Product description

Teckell Ciclotte - design fitness bike made of glass for the highest demands

The Teckell Ciclotte is no ordinary fitness machine, but a real design ergometer that combines sporty functionality with state-of-the-art aesthetics. The combination of a transparent glass body and an elegant black stainless steel frame makes this glass fitness bike an extraordinary object in any interior - whether at home, in a penthouse or in a designer showroom. What makes the Ciclotte so special? The frame is made of multi-layered, laser-processed safety glass. This stylish shape replaces the classic round bicycle housing with a glass pane that looks like a work of art. It is the first stationary bike in the world to combine so much craftsmanship with technology - typical of Teckell's vision of Italian design and technical innovation.

Personalized luxury training with style

Thanks to the magnetic resistance system with 12 magnets and high-speed flywheel, the Teckell Ciclotte allows you to experience an intense workout - comparable to a real racing bike. The pedal system has been designed to protect the joints (only 6 cm distance between the pedals). The base is flexible and moves with your body - creating a realistic riding experience just like on the road. With integrated Bluetooth connectivity and a robust tablet holder, you can make your training smart. Whether it's Kinomap routes, streaming or music - everything is possible. This turns every workout into an immersive experience.

Exclusive fitness equipment for people with vision

This unique luxury fitness machine is designed for all those who are not satisfied with the ordinary. The Teckell Ciclotte appeals to people who love design, like to visibly maintain an active lifestyle and value quality. Whether as an eye-catcher in the living room or as a highlight in the home gym - this bike attracts attention. Did you know that the Teckell Ciclotte is produced in strictly limited numbers and that each model comes with a certificate of authenticity? Anyone who owns one belongs to a very small group of people worldwide who appreciate design and performance at the highest level.
