Product description

The depiction of the bow is perhaps the most direct allusion to the art of origami within this collection. With Tori, the large one, and Kotori, the small one, these pieces capture the essence of origami in its purest form, symbolizing peace, health and happiness.

Their presence is a constant reminder of the delicacy and intricate detail that characterizes origami. This practice combines technical precision with a deep emotional and cultural meaning, just like every piece in this collection.

Studio Vondom's design collection combines the millennia-old Japanese art of paper folding with avant-garde, contemporary design. Inspired by the simplicity and sophistication of origami, this collection brings the essence of simplified geometry to the outdoors through an exquisite selection of animals and faceted vases.

Each piece, the result of a meticulous design process, not only captures the intrinsic beauty of geometric shapes, but also invites a sensory experience where light and shadow play to create captivating visual spectacles. Tori and Kotori stand as masterpieces of this collection, embodying the spirit and elegance of origami while conveying a deeper cultural meaning.
